River Cruise – No permit or experience needed

The River Shannon gives Central Ireland its unique character. This is an obvious feature if you study a map of the River Shannon. At first glance it is clear that the waters influence the land. Fishing is superb and golf is extremely popular! During your trip, you will stop in picturesque villages, why not explore the medieval churches and relax in the pubs!

The Irish coast rises steeply from the sea, yet the terrain drops further inland, creating a sort of bowl where water gathers. A fifth of the water flows inland, towards the River Shannon, the largest river in Ireland with its 360 kilometers. A map of the River Shannon reveals the large number of lakes in the Shannon network, a real plus for canal navigation!

Looking at a map of the Shannon-Erne waterway, you can see the beautiful section of the Shannon-Erne canal. This passage connects the two canal networks of the rivers Shannon and Erne, which explains its not very creative name. The canal stretches for 63 kilometers and goes from the village of Leitrim to Upper Lough. It has 18 locks and is as amazing as it is quiet.
